

#1 ranked technology. Experts' choice.

We started this partnership when one of our customers asked us to consider working with Bitdefender given their complex environment, and based on what would best serve their security requirements. Upon learning more about the solution, we found it a perfect match. We look especially at third-party test rankings, cloud offerings, and consolidated console manager. Bitdefender has matched our company's philosophy of providing and recommending proven, effective solutions to our clients.

The largest project with Bitdefender to date has been with one of the largest publicly traded consulting companies in America. We assisted in protecting over 900 VMS on 138 processors using the SVE product. Several resources were made available to the client to help close the deal and get everything operational.

Lifetime Recurrent & Protected Revenues

Security for Virtualized Environments (SVE) allows companies to maximize the performance of their virtualized investments. The whole point of virtualizing is to get more out of your machines and save costs. Bitdefender allows you to get even MORE out of your virtualized environments.

Bitdefender's solution is HIGHLY cost-effective. The company's security solution provides one of the best bangs for the buck. In our industry, the idea of 'you get what you pay for' plays a significant role in the solutions clients purchase. With Bitdefender, you get a lot more than what you pay for. Third-party test results show that Bitdefenders' solution is proven to ensure maximum performance and security.

Providing several referrals and case studies along with the third-party test results will help with closing future business. Once the credibility is established, it's easy to win deals, especially when you have statistics to back things up.

Working together. Simple, easy and straightforward

It is a great relationship: definitely a win/win, where we help close deals, while at the same time getting support from Bitdefender's engineers. The combination of knowledge and response time leads to satisfied customers.

It's good to know that we have additional resources available to help with technical questions and network specific issues. Everything correlates to faster response times all-around, which goes a long way with clients.
